

2007

February 2007

Major changes were made with the clinic electrical system. A new large transformer was installed so that the clinic would be isolated from the church compound. A security system was also installed to help protect the clinic when it is not open.

March 2007

Celebration time as Amy and Cliff Intriago were married! Amy met Cliff several years ago when she came with Elizabeth on a special mission. Since that time, she had made several trips with our foundation. In 2005, Amy requested to go to work for us for up to 2 years to administrate our small clinic. After much board deliberation, it was agreed that she could go. In Jan 2006 she left the states and set up residence on the 2nd floor of our clinic. While there, she renewed her friendship with Cliff. Well, one thing led to another and they were married on March 17th.

July 2007

This month, two friends from California, Jim and Sue Ritter came to help at the clinic. They brought with them a wonderful woman named Altagracia Quezada. She came to teach the women of the church how to sew—specifically in using patterns. They had never sewed with patterns before and were excited to learn. On the previous shipment, 15 sewing machines were brought down so that the women could start a micro-business. We bring down donated materials for them to use whenever we can. Pictures were taken of each of the ladies to show off what they made. They wore what they made besides holding other items that they also made.

September 2007

This year we had another great team (we only bring down great teams!) that consisted of construction members in addition to the medical team. The medical team held clinics at five separate project locations, and they saw a total of 1006 patients over 4 1/2 days. The construction team finished the concrete sidewalk in the back of the clinic, built a walkway on the roof from the stairwell to the washing machine (roof gets flooded during the rainy season), concreted the unfinished outside walls of the water purification room on the roof, the dental/apartment building and sealed them with a primer coat and lastly sodded the back yard of the clinic.
